

SOUTHERN UTILITY RESOURCES

EDUCATIONAL / OUTREACH

MISSION

- Southern Utility Resources is a Mississippi non-profit corporation with primary offices in Ocean Springs, MS.

The Internal Revenue Service has determined Southern Utility Resources is exempt from federal income tax under the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(c)(3).

- Southern Utility Resources intends, among other approaches, to educate local citizens and community leaders in the Southern United States about water, sewer, and natural gas safety, conservation and maintenance.
- The education and outreach mission will be to educate the public, commercial enterprises, elected officials and smaller jurisdictions, including low income communities, about water conservation and water quality issues, proper sewer and septic tank operations and maintenance and natural gas safety with respect to delivery and use of natural gas in household and commercial enterprises.
- Southern Utility Resources plans to accomplish this education and outreach mission through community meetings, newsletters, social media and a website designed to encourage water conservation, proper wastewater management and safe practices with respect to natural gas usage and management. The goal is to also help governmental entities through education and training of both managers and operators of utility systems, thereby making the utility system more cost efficient in both day to day operations and long-term capital investments.

- Southern Utility Resources is registered and will undertake its mission in the listed Southern States:
